IATF 16949 Capacity building programme

IATF 16949 Capacity building programme

To be successful in today's dynamic world, organizations need to embed resilience. And there are three fundamental elements to building a resilient organization: process, product and people. At BSI Training Academy we focus on helping clients all over the world build resilience through their people.

By combining the right training and support services through our capacity building programme, we help you invest in your people. We work with you to identify the needs of your organization so your teams gain the knowledge and skills required to embed management systems and drive sustainable growth.

What is capacity building?

Capacity building is a systematic approach of knowledge and skills development. It ensures an organization has the internal expertise to effectively implement change and improve performance.

IATF 16949 is the internationally-adopted quality management system (QMS) standard for the automotive industry. It provides automotive Original Equipment Manufacturers (OEMs) and suppliers a best practice approach to consistently produce quality products and meet customer needs.

With a growing global automotive supply chain, where technologies are rapidly advancing, you need to enhance organizational performance, increase customer satisfaction and gain a competitive edge. And that's where IATF can help.

Outlining everything you need to know about achieving best practice when designing, developing, manufacturing, installing or servicing automotive products, it's a great framework to help you deliver high levels of safety and quality in a timely manner. So make sure your teams have the skills to implement and operate IATF 16949 effectively with our capacity building programme.
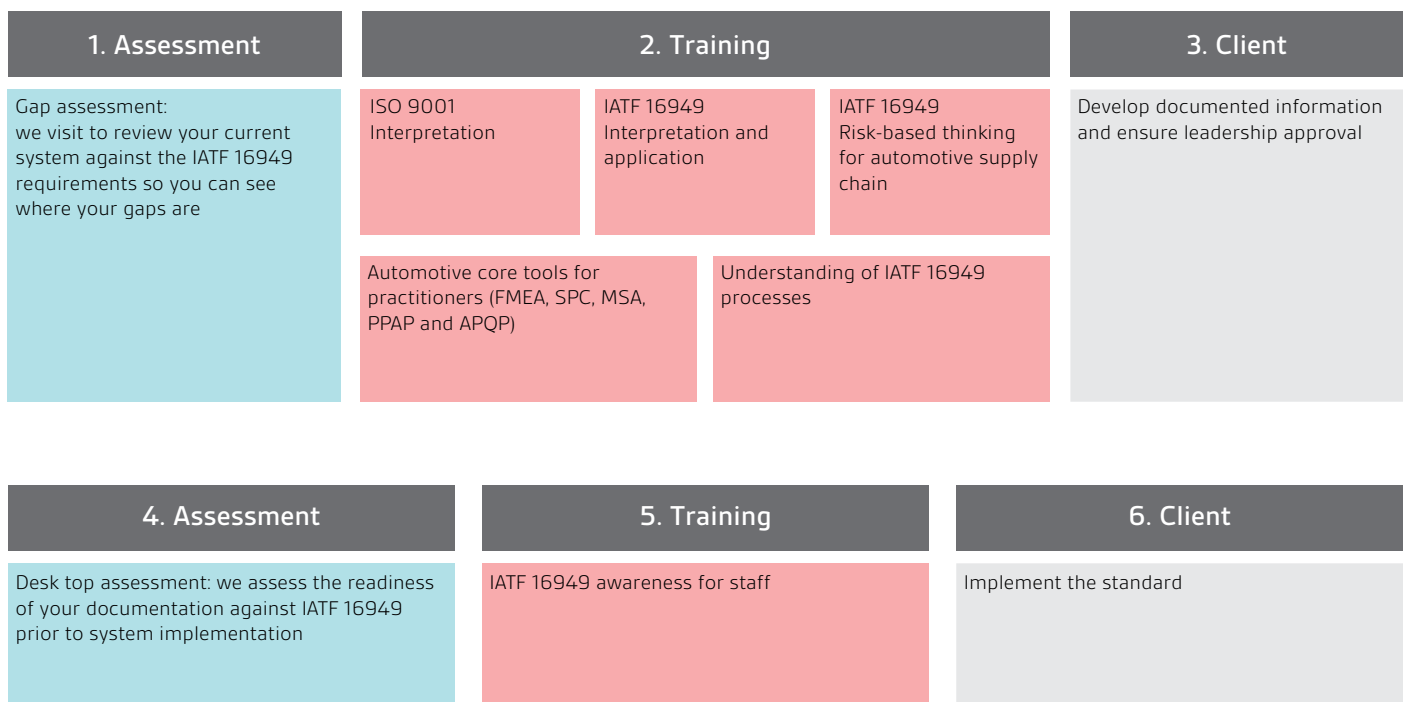

The benefits of capacity building:

- In-house expertise
- Enhanced flexibility and convenience
- Better engagement from your teams
- Added value to your organization

What our programme includes

Our capacity building programmes has two main phases – pre and post implementation. This involves a number of our training and support services, as well as implementation activities where you embed you learning and respond to any gaps identified. By working with BSI, your organization will gain the skills to confidently implement your management system and ensure it continually improves.

Phase one: pre-implementation

1. Assessment	2. Training			3. Client
Gap assessment: we visit to review your current system against the IATF 16949 requirements so you can see where your gaps are	ISO 9001 Interpretation	IATF 16949 Interpretation and application	IATF 16949 Risk-based thinking for automotive supply chain	Develop documented information and ensure leadership approval
	Automotive core tools for practitioners (FMEA, SPC, MSA, PPAP and APQP)	Understanding of IATF 16949 processes

4. Assessment	5. Training	6. Client
Desk top assessment: we assess the readiness of your documentation against IATF 16949 prior to system implementation	IATF 16949 awareness for staff	Implement the standard

Phase two: post-implementation

1. Training	2. Client	3. Assessment
IATF 16949 Process approach audit for first and second party auditor	Conduct an internal audit and management review	Pre-certification assessment: we visit to assess your readiness to certify to the standard, including an end of assessment review so you can see how ready you are
